Teaching Craft is Changing

In a few days a record number of students will converge on schools and colleges. Most of them will be willing to listen and to believe as a necessary part of the training technique.

Vast changes have come to the halls of learning since the generation past. High moral concepts, admiration of honesty and truth, love of family and respect for church and the nation are no longer a part of the teaching process.

To touch on only one facet of the unbelievable change—left wingism in the classroom—we have only to pick points recently in the national news.

The Wall Street Journal: "Almost every university has at least one left-wing economics professor. Harvard has five, Columbia seven. American University has eight on its sixteen-member economics faculty."

Anthony Harrigan, an economist-writer-lecturer reported earlier this month: "More than 1,200 economists, most of them professors and graduate students in economics, belong to the Union for Radical Political Economics—and their influence is growing... a basic economics text assigned at North Carolina University begins with the words 'Capitalism stinks.'"

Harrigan add that supporters of Marxist and neo-Marxists professors of economics and other subjects would scream "academic freedom" if such teachers were ousted from colleges and universities.

But are radical professors deserving of academic freedom if they are not engaged in authentic academic work? We think not.

Several years ago Prof. Herbert Marcuse, then at San Diego State, said that the Marxian idea of socialism is not radical enough. "We must develop the moral-sexual rebellion in youth," he said.

Dr. Russell Kirk, author of "The Intemperate Professor" wrote: "...radical teachers are prepared to defend to the death their monopoly in the classroom. They are engaged in converting higher learning into an instrument of ideological reconstruction."

And finally, a poignant yarn about a teacher at New York York Junior High School No. 98 who asked his pupils to write an essay about someone they really admired.

A 12-year-old student, Vivian Fields, wrote an essay on Angela Davis saying "monuments should be built" to her.

The teacher, William Burke, respected her right to choose her own hero and gave her a B-plus on her essay—a pretty good grade.

He wrote in the margin of her work that he hoped that a future essay would be about "someone else, black or white" to admire.

He did not indicate that Angela Davis is a member of the Communist party who says she wants to see the American system destroyed. Nor did he say that last year she was on the FBI's ten most wanted list as a fugitive from justice.

He didn't say anything like that and yet he was fired. He lost his job because the Communist newspaper, the Daily Worker, protested his staying and organized a protest. One other newspaper, the New York Post, picked up the story after it had appeared in the Daily Worker.

On one hand the radicals demand academic freedom—unless it becomes a force for democracy.

Valley Man Charged With Armed Robbery

A Spring Valley man was arrested on armed robbery charges last week after authorities received a tip that he might be heading for San Diego International Airport.

According to reports from the Sheriff's Department, Dennis M. Daley, 18, of 9845 Ivanhoe, Spring Valley, was taken into custody at the airport shortly after 10:30 p.m. and charged with the armed robbery of a Spring Valley liquor store.

The Sheriff's Department sent deputies to the scene of the crime shortly after it was learned that the robbery had occurred. A clerk at the liquor store indicated that the bandit displayed a gun and fled afoot with about $100.

Deputies were contacted at the scene by a witness, who said that when he arrived at his home earlier that his gun was missing. The witness, an acquaintance of the suspect, said that he became suspicious when he heard Astrea, the Sheriff's Department helicopter that was also called to the scene and headed for the liquor store nearby.

When he returned, the gun was in its place and the suspect was leaving in a pick-up truck. He gave a description of the suspect, which matched the description offered by the store clerk. The witness then told deputies that the suspect might have been heading for the airport and gave the license number of the pick-up.

The suspect was arrested about an hour later.

Nixon Rally At Airport Tonight at 5

A Nixon rally tonight at 5 p.m. at the San Diego International Airport will celebrate the President's homecoming — and the public is invited. The rally will start at 3 p.m. with entertainment by Fred and Mickie Finn at PSA hangar.

Free shuttle service will be given from the San Diego Sports Arena, 3500 Sports Arena Blvd., and at the old Ferry Landing at Harbor drive and Pacific Coast highway for all persons wishing to see the President.

Free parking will be available at both locations. Airport entry at Winship rd. will be clearly marked.

A number of prominent California Republicans who are attending the GOP National Convention in Miami Beach are expected to be on hand to welcome the President.

Following the airport rally, the Presidential party will fly by Marine 1, a U. S. Marine Corps helicopter to the Western White House in San Clemente.

The Nixon party, including Mr. Nixon, his wife "Pat", daughter Tricia and her husband, Edward Cox, will arrive in the Presidential jet, "Spirit of '76", to the same city where he started his successful Presidential campaign in 1968.

Mr. Nixon's plurality in San Diego and Orange Counties in that election won California and the Presidency.

The President's visit falls during a local celebration, "San Diego — America's Finest City."

Metropolitan Water District Announces Tax Rate Cut

The Board of Directors of the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California last week voted to reduce the district's property tax rate for 1972-73 from 17 cents to 15 cents for each $100 of assessed valuation.

The board voted the reduction after receiving assessed valuation figures for MWD's 4,900-square-mile service area. The new total is $29,407,380,000, compared with last year's tax base of $27,508,759,000.

MWD supplies local residents with water through the Otay Municipal Water District and the Helix Irrigation District.

The 15-cent rate will help meet 1972-73 expenditures budgeted in June by the board at $187,571.00 and allow, when combined with revenues from water sales and other balances on hand, maintenance of adequate reserve funds.

After reaching a high of 50 cents in 1945-46, one of the early years of operation of its Colorado River Aqueduct, the District's tax rate was steadily lowered until it reached 14 cents for 1962-63.

As construction of the $2.8 billion State Water Project moved ahead and MWD's $1.3-billion expansion program to distribute the northern water on the coastal plain got under way, it was found necessary to boost the rate first to 16 cents and then to 17 cents.

District construction expenditures in this year's budget are down $21.6 million from 1971-72. That, however, is largely offset by higher costs for payments to the state for water deliveries, higher operation and maintenance costs with the completion of new distribution works, and greater expenditures for service of bonded indebtedness.

Deadline Nears For Application To Grossmont

Grossmont College is anticipating the largest enrollment in its history when classes open for the fall semester September 11. Prospective new students are urged to apply now and be programmed for fall classes.

With registration priority based on application date, it is important that new students make application for enrollment as early as possible to ensure that they may register in classes of their choice.

Official deadline for filing applications for the fall semester is tomorrow, however, late applications will be accepted until 4 p.m., September 1. After that date, each application will be considered individually on its own merits. Applications for enrollment must be made in person in the college's admission office.

In spite of the record-breaking number of students expected for the fall semester, opportunities to enroll in various courses still exist. Among these are baking, jewelry and lapidary crafts, black history, real estate, business law, criminology and courses for library technical assistants.

More than 200 courses, including several new ones, will be offered during the evening. Many of these are designed to improve specific competencies while some will prepare the student for a completely different career with still others offered for self-enrichment and personal development.

Additional information on courses and programs that will be offered during the fall semester is available in the Grossmont College catalog and fall semester schedule of classes for sale in the college bookstore.

Information on specific courses that will be offered during the evening session may be obtained by contacting the evening division office at the college. Phone 465-1700, Ext. 258.

In total, the 1972-73 budget represents a reduction of $4.5 million from the previous year's budget.

MWD has completed or has in progress nearly $500 million in construction to distribute the new supply of water from the north. Initial deliveries are already being made to large areas in Ventura County and Los Angeles County.

In all, the district is currently providing supplemental water from either the Colorado River or from Northern California to 27 member agencies in six counties — Los Angeles, Orange, Riverside, San Bernardino, San Diego and Ventura.

Mosquito Problems Serious

San Diego County is facing the most serious mosquito problem in years, according to Dr. J. B. Askew, director of public health. Hundreds of complaints about mosquitoes have been received by the Health Department in the past few days.

"The largest number of complaints are coming from Mira Mesa residents," Dr. Askew said. "Mosquitoes are reproducing quickly in that area in pools of water created by runoff from overwatered lawns and washing of cars."

"The runoff pools and warm summer days provide excellent conditions for mosquito breeding. The insects reproduce quickly in any amount of water where there is no motion."

Overflow from some sewerage systems in the county have added to the mosquito problem. "The systems are dumping effluent into lagoons, creeks and canyons, creating still more places for mosquitoes to breed," Askew noted.

Personnel from the Health Department's Mosquito Control Service are making a concentrated effort to slow the mosquito explosion, according to Dr. Askew. They are regularly dipping samples from all standing water on public lands, checking them for mosquitoes and carrying out whatever control measures are necessary.

Dr. Askew said county residents could help immeasurably by taking the following precautionary steps:

If you water your lawn, be careful not to overwater it. If you wash your car, use no more water than you must. Runoff from these two activities is the main source of water for mosquito-breeding pools in residential areas.

If you own a swimming pool, be sure the filter and skimmer are working. If the pool is not equipped with these devices, drain it every five days.

If you have an outboard motor and keep it in a barrel of water while it is not in use, empty the barrel every five days.

If you have an ornamental pool, empty it every five days or else stock it with Gambusia, the tiny fish that feed on mosquito larvae.

If you have a stream or pool of water on your land that cannot be drained or filled, stock it with Gambusia. Weed growth along the edge should be eliminated so the larvae can't take cover from the Gambusia.

The Health Department's Mosquito Control Service maintains a supply of Gambusia for the public to use in mosquito control. The fish are available without charge from 7 to 7:30 a.m. and 5 to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday at the County Operations Center, 5555 Overland Ave., San Diego.

'Hansen's' Pond Claims Another Drowning Victim

DROWNING VICTIM — The body of fourteen-year old Ruth Ann Arters, of 9802 Saint George st., Spring Valley, is carried from Hansen's Pond after a team of nine divers for the San Diego Council of Diving Clubs Search and Recovery team spent an hour and a half in the search. The victim, who had been playing on a raft in the water, went under at 4:20 p.m. Tuesday while swimming to shore. Divers recovered the body at 7:30 p.m.

Otay Water District Tax Rate Stays 'Zero'

The Otay Municipal Water District announced this week that its no-tax policy has been extended to the sixth consecutive year.

Financing for the 1972-73 operating budget will come from water and sewer charges, said Glenn Reiter, the district's general manager.

However, there will be an increase in water bills of about seven per cent to offset increased water costs and the cost of living increases which have taken place over the past two years.

Expanded water and sewer services with an increase in water and operations costs required an operating budget of $2,623,000 for 1972-73. Added to a capital improvement budget of $2,149,000 resulted in a total budget of $4,772,000.

Capital improvement expenditures are financed from authorized bond funds or from direct developer contribution to provide extended service facilities to the burgeoning subdivision developments in the Otay area.

Improvement District tax rates for bond debt retirement continues a general downward trend. Expanded tax bases due to development reduces the cost for benefited property because of decreased individual payment of capital debts.

Lower tax rates will affect the following improvement districts:

La Presa — 1 (sewer) 60 cents, an 18% decrease
La Presa — 2 (water) 25 cents, a 14% decrease. These districts serve La Presa.

'Bon Voyage' Reception Given For Larry May

A "bon voyage" party was given Saturday for Larry Mays at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack May, of 2852 Skyline dr., Lemon Grove.

The reception was attended by more than 40 persons who came to see the youth off for Europe where he will spend the next three months "traveling and unwinding."

Following his tour he will return to New York where he is to become associated with one of the largest law firms in that city.

At Mt. Miguel High school here, he was editor of the school's newspaper. He worked part-time for this newspaper. At UCLA he worked on the UCLA Bruin, the college newspaper. During vacation he worked on the Riverside Press, the Los Angeles Times and the Washington Post.

He was graduated from UCLA with a law degree. Attending the reception was Mrs. June Mott, his high school journalism teacher.

S.V. Girl Is Summer's Second Fatality

A 14-year old Spring Valley girl became the second person in a month to drown at "Hansen's Pond" Tuesday afternoon.

Ruth Ann Arters, of 9802 Saint George st., Spring Valley, was playing on a raft in the pond with companions prior to the accident. When she and another 14-year old girl swam to shore from the raft, a distance of about 30 yards, she apparently tired and went under a few yards off shore.

Her companion attempted to pull the victim from the water, but was unsuccessful and nearly drowned herself in the effort. The accident occurred at about 4:20 p.m.

Sheriff's deputies were at the scene at 4:35 p.m., but no sign of the girl was noted.

Scuba divers from the San Diego Council of Diving Clubs' Search and Recovery team arrived at the scene at 6 p.m. and began the search. The body was recovered at 7:30 p.m.

Miss Arters was the second drowning victim at the pond this summer. Eight-year old Kenneth Rainey, of 3346 San Carlos dr., Spring Valley, drowned there July 19 after slipping from the same raft

S.V. Park Plans Hit Fund Snag

The proposed 4.25-acre Spring Valley park scheduled for completion next month has been delayed because of a shortage of funds, according to Herb Ketell, chairman of the park committee of the Spring Valley Park and Recreation District.

The problem arose when money that was expected to be placed in a reserve account was put back into the county general fund, and therefore can't be used for completing the park.

There is sufficient money to take care of the remaining contracts for landscaping and installing irrigation to the parcel, but no funds are available to complete toilet facilities, an ornamental fountain, and the proposed sound stage.

Completion of the park, then, will have to await funds.

A meeting of the advisory board of the park and recreation district will be held September 11, and it is hoped that the situation will be resolved, Ketell said.

One possible solution would be to borrow on the money expected to be generated through the district tax over the next two years. The district taxes 20 cents per $100 assessed valuation, and it is expected that, aside from operation costs, there will be enough money left over to finance the rest of the park construction.

If the funding is resolved at the September meeting, Ketell said, the park will hopefully open around Christmas time.

Still sought for the park are large shade trees donated by area residents. When trees are donated, the park and recreation district will contract for a professional tree moving company to handle the transplanting, or a company may donate part of the cost of moving the trees.

Fumes A Problem In Some Pre-1963 VWs

A public advisory has been issued by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration warning of potentially dangerous problems in pre-1963 Volkswagens.

The warning related particularly to the engine fumes containing carbon monoxide, which may enter the car through the heater system.

Louis J. Bintz, manager of automotive engineering for the Automobile Club of Southern California, noted that some of the vehicles tested in the past, all built before 1963, were found to have levels of carbon monoxide "that could cause drowsiness, nausea and impaired driving ability after prolonged exposure to the gas."

Bintz explained that the leakage comes from "deteriorating components in the exhaust system, with the result that carbon monoxide could be passed into the passenger compartment through the heater."

Carbon monoxide is odorless and colorless, he noted, and therefore difficult for drivers to detect.

This will be the final art mart before resumption of Grossmont Adult Education classes September 11 when Dilly Daubers will renew studies with art instructor Mildred Dille, who is also the club's advisor.

Learn Spanish The Easy Way

Hardison's Telespanish

By JAMES HARDISON

"Le" is a simple Spanish word that can mean "him" or "you" in English. For example, "No le oigo." (I do not hear you.) and "No le veo." (I do not see you.) show how "le" may be used to mean "you" when one person speaks directly to another person. The same phrases, "No le oigo." and "No le veo." can be respectively translated "I do not hear him." and "I do not see him." when one talks about another person.

"Le" may be added as a suffix to the infinitive forms of verbs and combine to make one word. Verbs such as "visitar" (to visit), "hablar" (to speak), and "ver" (to see) may appear as "visitarle" (to visit you), "hablarle" (to speak with you) and "verle" (to see you).

"Le" occasionally is used to start a sentence. This is seen in the expressions "Le veo mañana." (I will see you tomorrow.) and "Le digo la verdad." (I am telling you the truth.)

"Le" is used interchangeably with "le" to mean "him." This is demonstrated in the expressions "Lo busco." (I look for him.) and "Lo espero." (I wait for him.)

"Lo" is also used to express "it" in English. Examples of this are seen in "Lo tomo conmigo." (I take it with me.) and "No lo quiero." (I do not want it.). "Lo" may also appear as a suffix to the command forms of verbs as in "Tomase!" (Take it) and

"Lealo" (Read it). Several practice phrases using "le" and "lo" are listed below for your continued learning pleasure. You may find them useful in talking with Spanish-speaking friends. A phonetic guide is provided for each word and phrase. Dial 276-2762 for listening to the automatic record that will lead you in saying the same phrases.

Kiwanis Hear Heinz Grabia

"Society today is saying to us: justify your existence," Rev. Heinz Grabia, Pastor of the First Baptist Church of San Diego and current International President of the Y's Men's Service Club, told Spring Valley Kiwanis members and their wives on Kiwanis International "Family Day" recently.

"Trying to be relevant today, of course, is the big thing and Kiwanis is no different than any other organization." Touching on today's drug problem he said, "What makes a person weak so he has to take drugs as a crutch? We need to know why people are taking drugs. Ministering to the crisis is not enough anymore. All the technological know-how that is available to us certainly should be utilized in the area of greatest need and the greatest needs today are in the personal; in the individual."

"The family of today and tomorrow," Grabia said, "must become a refuge from the impersonal pressures of an achievement oriented world of work."

Junior Achievement Reaches Halfway Mark In Annual Fund Drive

Junior Achievement has now raised $52,000, reaching the halfway point in a current fund drive, Lamar Whitney, JA president announced.

The drive, extended through the month of August, is seeking funds to maintain and expand its programs involving youth in business.

"Time is running short. During the remaining two weeks, we will be working hard to get the needed funds from the community to support these young people in their business venture," Lamar Whitney stated.

Local businessmen who have volunteered their time will continue calling on business commercial, industrial and professional facets of the community telling them about Junior Achievement and asking their support.

Junior Achievement, a non-profit program operating in San Diego County for 22 years, helps youth become directly involved in all phases of business activity by giving them the opportunity to form their own small companies.

Local youth develop, produce and market their own products with support and guidance of management volunteers from local businesses.

Gideons have distributed more than 110 million New Testaments or Bibles in hotel and hospital rooms since 1908. They continue to place them at the rate of one million every 30 days.

At County Parks

Space Still Available For Labor Day Campers

The approaching Labor Day weekend will find Southern Californians, as usual, flocking to recreation spots, according to Lloyd T. Lowrey, The acting director of San Diego County's Department of Parks and Recreation reported, however, that the five major county camping parks should be able to handle the majority of campers who wish to reserve a site.

Lake Jennings Park with shore fishing for bass, trout, and panfish can still accommodate some trailers and quite a few tents on a reservation basis. It is located just east of El Cajon on Interstate 8. No boats are allowed at this time of the year.

Lake Morena County Park, 60 miles east of San Diego at an altitude of 3,150 feet, may not be too crowded at all. This newest of the County parks hasn't been "found" yet by Southlanders. The 188-surface acre lake offers a bonanza of bullhead catfish for the young and not-so-young angler. There is no limit on size or quantity of catfish caught. Rowboats are available for rent, but no private boats are allowed. Daily camping fees are $1.50 with no fee for fishing or day use.

Dos Picos County Park near Ramona has several tent sites available although the trailer spaces have all been reserved.

William Heise County Park, just south of Julian at an elevation of 4,200 feet, is not on the reservation system. However, Lowrey said that this 211-acre park, still under development, should not be too crowded over the holiday.

Plenty of space for trailers and tenters is the word from Lower Otay Lake Park, nine miles east of Chula Vista in the South Bay area. This seasonal park has reduced daily camping fees of $2 for trailer hook-ups and $1.50 for tent sites. The bass fishermen at Otay are bringing in near-record fish from the City of San Diego controlled lake, according to news reports.

The only desert park open for camping this season is Agua Caliente, 25 miles north of Interstate 8 on Highway S-2. This 640-acre park features natural springs, one cool and pure, the other warm and sulphurous. Because of the summer heat, camping fees are half the normal rate.

The Reservation Discount Cards, a program recently initiated by Chairman of the Board of Supervisors Harry F. Scheidte, provides San Diego County residents with an unlimited number of reservations free instead of the usual fee of $1.50. An additional bonus is a 50 cents discount on most daily fees for holders of the cards.

"Although reservations for county parks may be made up to ninety days in advance by calling 239-PARK," said Lowrey, "we do set aside some sites at each campground for the last minute or out-of-town camper who just drops in."

The typical smoker consumes 15 to 24 cigarettes daily, according to the National Center for Health Statistics.

Rotary Meeting Set

Kiwanis members and their ladies as far south as Chula Vista, as far east as Alpine, and as far north as Baker's field and Santa Barbara were present.

Approximately eighty Kiwanis and their wives enjoyed a "prime rib" lunch at the "Fire Pit" before going to the Del Mar Turf Club to watch the races.

Brumbaugh was one of nine door prize winners.

EROSION PROBLEM — Trail motorcycles, dune buggies, and people who dump garbage and haul away topsoil and sand are causing a problem at Rancho San Diego construction sites which may lead to serious soil erosion, according to Leonard Grayson, executive vice president of Rancho San Diego.

The firm has taken "every reasonable step to prevent such actions," Grayson said. "All of our property is fenced, posted and patrolled."

He indicated that his company, which has received complaints from surrounding residents of the noise and dumpings, is hopeful that those who are involved will voluntarily stop harming the environment of the development. (Vince Broesch photo)

Matador Troubadors Shape Up 1972-73 Musical Season

A two-week post session rehearsal has been completed by the Mt. Miguel High School band and the results deemed very successful, according to band director Dean Immel.

Tuning up for a schedule which includes competition in at least five major events and a chance at a record sixth appearance in the Pasadena Tournament of Roses Parade, Immel sent approximately 130 band members through the post session drills.

Section rehearsals were augmented by full band sessions on Fridays with all new band students, staff members and section leaders required to attend daily rehearsals.

The Matador band, annually rated as one of the state's finest, will be composed mainly of freshmen, sophomores and juniors this year but still rates as a solid threat in the October Autumn Band Review. The winning band in this competition earns the right to the Jan. 1 trip to the famed Rose Parade.

Mt. Miguel has represented San Diego in the New Year's Day event in 1963, '64, '66, '69 and '71.

The Matador marchers will regroup for a final preliminary rehearsal period Sept. 5-8.

prior to the opening of the fall school semester Sept. 11. An all-day rehearsal is scheduled Sept. 8, from 9 a.m.-4:30 p.m.

'Back to School' Days to Include Ecology Exhibits

The San Diego City and County YMCA's will be presenting various displays at the up coming "Back to School" days promotion at College Grove Shopping Center.

Exhibits include the YMCA/Diving Unlimited scuba display tank which was a highlight at the recent Southern California Exhibition at Del Mar. Also featured will be demonstrations by YMCA gymnasts, karate and judo experts.

YMCA demonstrations and exhibits are a part of the shopping Center's "Back to School" days which feature a total ecology theme. The YMCA's participation in this event represents a cooperative effort with other service oriented agencies to promote ecology education in San Diego.

The ecology theme has been of continuing interest to the YMCA and is stressed in YMCA camps and classes throughout the city and county.

The scuba tank will feature divers giving demonstrations on how divers are helping clean-up the underwater environment off the San Diego coast. Ecology has been a major point in the YMCA scuba classes and the College Grove demonstration will stress safety and a healthy environment.

"Back to School" days begin this morning and will continue through September 9. The first YMCA scuba demonstration will begin at 10 a.m. this morning.

Top Drivers Booked For S. Bay Speedway

Forty of the nation's top drivers will invade the South Bay Speedway in Chula Vista, Friday night at 8:15 p.m. for the first annual "Lowell Sachs Memorial" USRC Midget auto races on the 1/2 mile clay oval.

The mighty midgets will kick-off a three night racing weekend at the South Bay track, which includes the weekly ECSRA Super-Stock Car races at 8:15 p.m. on Saturday night, and the CMRE Motorcycle flat-track and T. T. doubleheader on Sunday evening at 7 p.m.

Friday nights eight event midget race will honor the memory of three-time United States Racing Club champion Lowell Sachs of San Diego, who passed away earlier this month from leukemia.

Heading the midget field will be current USRC point leader Danny McKnight of La Verne; defending champion Bobby Olivero of Lakewood; and Jerry Weeks of Chino, who won the last USRC midget race at South Bay.

Pat McIntyre of Spring Valley and Wes Osborn of Chula Vista will be after their fourth ECSRA Super-Stock Car main event wins of the year in Saturday nights 30 lap main event. Racing starts at 8:15 p.m.

McIntyre scored his third feature triumph last Saturday, while Osborn and Tex Kimbrell of Imperial Beach were involved in a spectacular crash on the north turn, that nearly totaled both cars. Both drivers walked away, and will be ready for a return match Saturday evening.

Also back in action will be Carl Adams of Lemon Grove, who will take a week off the NASCAR Western Grand National circuit.

More Summer Workshops Set By Orchestra

Because of the successful response to the Civic Youth Orchestra's first instrumental Summer String Workshop, similar workshops will be held each summer, according to Dr. Robert Emile, director.

Studying for three weeks at Grossmont College, 117 students from ages 12 to 20 came from all areas of San Diego and Orange Counties to receive instruction in instrumental technique, literature reading and ensemble playing.

The unexpected heavy enrollment required the services of Paul Severson instructing strings, Peter Middleton on flute, George Johnson on trombone, and George Cable on French horn, in addition to the original staff composed of Dr. Emile, violin; Gloria Hill, viola; Glenn Campbell, cello; and Federico Silvo, string bass.

This year the workshop convened three days each week for three-hour sessions with a $10 registration fee for the course. The instructors are all associated with the San Diego Symphony Orchestra.

Now in its sixteenth year, the Civic Youth Orchestra has become a prime force in extending opportunities for musical experience to advanced and talented young instrumentalists from Southern California.

Chargers to Try Saints: Game to be Televised

His teammates call him Bunny, and Jerry LeVias has been bounding like a rabbit through enemy pass defenses this summer.

After three games the 5-foot-9, 177-pound hare-quick wide receiver of the San Diego Chargers has caught 12 passes for 188 yards and two touchdowns. That total does not include catching the "game ball" against San Francisco and a couple of hundred passes each practice day.

With LeVias, John Hadl and Mike Garrett leading the attack, Coach Harland Svare and Deacon Jones take their Charger defensive revival meeting to Basin Street this weekend to engage Archie Manning and the New Orleans Saints at Tulane Stadium Saturday night at 6.

The game will be televised live on KCST-39 with Jerry Gross and Al Weter the announcers. It will be broadcast by Stu Nahan and Ralph Lawler on KDEO and the Charger radio network.

LeVias caught six passes including the game-winner with 1:07 left as San Diego rallied to beat the San Francisco 49ers, 17-16, before 47,308 at San Diego Stadium last Saturday night. The Chargers are 2-1 in pre-season, also beating Atlanta, 30-7, and losing to Minnesota, 24-13.

New Orleans, a giant-killer of 1971 under Coach J. D. Roberts, are 1-2 in pre-season. The Saints beat the Eagles at Philadelphia, 13-10, and lost at home to Buffalo, 24-21, and Dallas, 30-7. A crowd of more than 60,000 "Ragin' Cajuns" is expected to cheer the Saints Saturday night.

This will be the fourth meeting between San Diego and New Orleans, all in pre-season, and the Chargers lead the series, 2-1. The Saints won the only game played in New Orleans, 20-14, in 1970. The Chargers beat the Saints, 22-7, last year and 10-7 in 1969.

At this time last summer, LeVias was trying to recover from the shock of being traded from Houston, where he caught 42 and 41 passes and scored 10 touchdowns his first two pro seasons after a spectacular career at SMU. The shock remained as he spent most of 1971 on the Charger bench, catching 21 passes — 20 in the last four games when he advanced to the starting lineup.

Despite his impressive start this year, LeVias knows he still has a battle on his hands for a starting position in competition with all-star Gary Garrison, newcomer Dave Williams and second-year pro Chuck Dicus. "The stiffer the competition, the better I am," responded LeVias.

On the winning touchdown drive against San Francisco, 36 yards in 10 plays, LeVias caught four passes as Hadl completed 6 of 7 and Garrett gained 17 yards in 3 carries.

Solar Salute Looks Best For Del Mar Derby

Quality and quantity in the 3-year-old division, headed by John J. Elmore's highly-consistent Solar Salute, will contest the issue at the seaside Saturday in the 28th running of the $40,000 added Del Mar Derby.

Some 19 colts have been nominated for the mile and one furlong classic on the infield turf course and at least 12 of that number are expected to go postward.

The most feared contenders in the classic, which will decide the 3-year-old championship of the summer season, include the aforementioned Solar Salute, Green Thumb Stable's Bicker, Preston Madden's Kentuckian, Verne Winchell's Woodland Pines and Howard B. Keck's China Silk.

Others named for the Derby are Oh Hello, Palladium, Expediter, Shale, Curious Course, Morgan Hill, Nereno, Masked, Night Sky, Most Bared, The Pie Host, Queen's Hostler, Fleet Barbarian and Troubadour.

Friday's Del Mar feature, the $20,000 De Anza Stakes, will attract some of the top 2-year-olds on the grounds in an important stepping-stone leading to the Del Mar Futurity.

Great Dane does came from cross breeding mastiffs and greyhounds.

The Stars will be playing in the senior division competition for girls 18 and under. The Stars earned the tournament berth at the Escondido Girls Softball Tournament which concluded Saturday.

The Stars entered the tournament with a 17-3 win-loss record for the season, as the El Cajon Ponytail League champion. The second place team in the league, Santee Boosters, also went to the tournament.

After defeating the Escondido senior team 10-1, the Stars handled Mesa Del Sol's champion 17-0, and met the Santee Boosters team in the final round. The Stars downed Santee 7-1 to win the tournament. Overall statistics for the tournament show that the Stars collected 34 runs on 43 hits for the three games and committed only 3 errors. Opponents of the Stars scored only 2 runs in three games on 10 hits and committed 29 errors.

Dit Van Emmerik, Stars pitcher, fanned 32 batters in 18 innings she pitched and allowed only 5 hits. Relief pitcher Dorene Stallard fanned 5 batters in a 3-inning relief performance in the first game of the tournament.

Miss Van Emmerik also joined teammates Candy Smith, Patty Helms, and Jamie Hortt in providing the punch to the Stars offense. Defensively, Maureen Gamble, Kim Pittman, and Miss Hortt provided several outstanding plays to support Miss Van Emmerik's superb pitching.

The Spring Valley Boosters, Major division champions of the El Cajon Ponytail League, will also be representing San Diego at the state tournament in Bell Gardens.

The Boosters are aged 15 and under and also won the trip through the Escondido tournament.

In a playoff game held Sunday, August 20, in Escondido, the Boosters outlasted the Mesa Del Sol champions 5-4 to win the trip. In the Escondido tournament, the Boosters dropped the Escondido champs 7-2 to advance to the finals.

Old Timers Game Brings Back Baseball Stars of Yesteryear

by Max Goodwin

The Padres press dining room was abuzz with conversation. It was that relaxed period before the baseball game and sports newsmen were talking shop. Buzzie Bavasi and I were standing at the dining room soda fountain.

"Buzzie," I said, "bringing the old-time baseball stars to the Stadium last Friday was a great idea. Everyone I talked to said they thoroughly enjoyed it."

"Nobody enjoyed it more than I," he said—and he meant it. Buzzie Bavasi, president of the San Diego Padres baseball club is a thoughtful man—and he has class. Class permeates the entire executive Padre staff.

To the 30,000 fans on hand for the two-innings of play Friday, it showcased to baseball buffs many of the names that are historic. Most fans had given up hope of ever seeing these baseball greats in action again. But there they were and the fans were enjoying a state of euphoric nostalgia. It was indeed a great night.

Nifty Gifts

Class of the Padre organization showed before and after the game. It was in the hotel room of each of the old-timers that is sparkled through. There, on the dresser of each visitor was a bottle of fine, old Scotch whiskey. The bottle was in a white leather carrying case, a Bavasi thoughtfulness.

The visitors were Bavasi's guests in the press dining room before Friday's game. All of the old-timers knew Bavasi. At every table he was stopped for a round of stories. Many of them were about Bavasi.

Then down to the locker room where the athletes changed into the uniforms of the last team they served. There was more fellowship and more stories.

On the field, a standing ovation greeted Casey Stengel. Others were for Joe DiMaggio and Stan Musial. The score doesn't matter. To be in the stadium with those who helped make the profession of baseball artistic and respected was enough for most fans.

Later, Bavasi was host at a reception and dinner in the Stadium Club for 200 VIPs, newsmen — and the old geezers. Each player was presented with a ribbon-bedecked box which contained a super-miniature Sony radio. During the social period Bavasi flattered through the crowd trying to team up unpaired people. It was quite a chore since he was forced to listen to more stories. The stories never quit and the visitors indicated they'd rather reminisce than eat.

My tablemate was the fearsome John Edward "Beans" Reardon. Padre publicist Irv Grossman listed Reardon thusly: "JOHN REARDON, called 'Beans' and many other names by indignant National League managers and ballplayers, ran the game with a strong hand and if you argued much above a whisper, you were gone. Made the National League staff in 1926 (after six years in the whistle-stop leagues), umpired in four World Series before the 1949 classic, which was his swan song.

"Probably threw Frankie Frisch out more times than any other ump, and nearly out of the 1934 World Series when Judge Landis ordered the removal of Joe Medwick, Frisch's Cardinal field leader, who was being bombarded with garbage by fans in Detroit. Cards were leading in that decisive game 11-0, but Frisch at first refused to go on with the game."

Tough and Mean

Beans and I talked about many things — at least I did. He'd quickly change the subject back to baseball. He wanted to make certain that his reputation as a tough, mean umpire didn't fade away. He told of his fights with Frisch and his disagreements with some of the other umpires. Some people stopped by the table and asked him some overlong questions. "Why ask me questions if you're going to answer them yourself," he grumped.

A nice lady came over and asked Beans to autograph a sheet of paper she laid on the table. There were several other autographs already signed and the top ones were Joe and Vince DiMaggio. "Hell, no," he said to the lady, "You don't expect me to sign under them Wops?"

She was taken aback. She turned the sheet over. Beans signed.

I had planned to ask Beans about the rumor I heard long ago that umpires steal some of the baseballs that they are required to "rub up" before the game. I ditched that idea right then.

The dinner party was pleasant but Beans Reardon is another kind of man and it made me realize that a batter's life is not a happy one if he disagrees with umpires. Reardon is a man of strong convictions who prided himself in the fact that he had one-upped most of the old timers at the dinner at one time or another.

At the reception surrounding the bar it was fun touching elbows with those who bore historic names.

Famous Names, Famous People

There were Earl Averill (Hall of Fame) Pete Coscarart (Dodgers-Pirates) Joe and Vincent DiMaggio, Luke Easter (400), Larry French (15 plus games for 9 years), Goofy Gomez (unbeaten in 6 World Series) Stan Hack (.301 lifetime), Lloyd Waner (234 hits in 1929), Casey Stengel, the Ol' Perfesser (10 pennants with Yankees) and Red Barber, one of the first sports announcers.

There were Frenchy Bordagaray (sterling pinch-hitter), Jerry Coleman (Yankee 2nd baseman American League all-star, 1950, current radio voice of the Padres (together with Bob Chandler)), Chuck Connors (former Cub and tv "Rifleman" star), Bobby Doerr (100-plus RBIs in 6 different years), Babe Herman (hit .340, .381 and .393 for the Dodgers), Carl Hyball (developed the screwball), Ducky Medwick (lifetime average .324 with Cardinals), Stan Musial (lifetime 2,000 hits, 476 homers, average .331) and Don Newcombe (149-90 games in 10-year career).

Also Rudy Valentino Regalado (PCL star who looks like his namesake. Two years with Cleveland Indians and now a successful tv executive with Channel 6), Max West (43 homers with PCL Padres in 1947), Frankie Frisch (last player-manager, pilot light of the Gas House Gang in St. Louis), Umpire Jocko Conlon (who engaged Lippy Durocher in a shin-kicking exchange at home plate in the Coliseum in L.A.), Pat Orr (PCL umpire) and, of course, Beans Reardon.

And amid all this there was Buzzie fluttering about, greeting his cronies and exuding the famed Bavasian charm.

Yes, it was class all the way. And equally important, it was a night to remember for 30,000 fans.

Gulls Set Tracks For Trail For '72-73 Season Training

Training camp for the 1972-73 edition of the San Diego Gulls will open in Trail, British Columbia on September 19. The site was selected by General Manager Max McNab and coach Jack Evans. This will be the third consecutive year the Gulls have used facilities in Trail.

The club will depart from San Diego on Monday, September 18 and camp will begin the following day.

San Diego will go through seven days of two-a-day workouts in preparation for the first of seven pre-season games. The first contest will be Tuesday, September 26 when the local Senior team, the Trail Smoke Eaters, battle the Gulls in what is becoming an annual game.

The Gulls will then meet the Seattle Totems (twice) and the Nelson Maple Leafs (Senior) before closing out camp and returning to San Diego for workouts at the San Diego Sports Arena and the House of Ice.

Coach Jack Evans and his troop will then have three days of practice time to prepare for the pre-season game against the Los Angeles Kings scheduled for October 5 in the Sports Arena. The Thursday night clash will be the first time in the history of San Diego hockey a National League team has played in San Diego and it will be the first game ever for the Gulls against an NHL team.

Two more pre-season games in Tucson against the Phoenix Roadrunners will complete the Gulls pre-season schedule.

The Dallas Black Hawks will provide the opposition at the Gulls Western League opener Saturday, October 14, in the Sports Arena.

The Black Hawks and the other teams in the Central Hockey League are looking forward toward the interlocking schedule with Western Hockey League teams this season.

Potato Salad To Highlight Assn. Picnic

The El Cajon Stock Racing Association will hold its annual picnic Sunday at Holiday Ranch with plenty of games and food — including over 200 pounds of potato salad prepared at the Lemon Grove VFW Hall.

The picnic open to members, their families, and friends of the association, will also include barbecued ham and beef sandwiches, hamburgers, hot dogs, baked beans, and beer and soda pop.

The potato salad, however, must be the main attraction. Women of the ECSRA auxiliary will boil their potatoes at home, then bring them to the VFW hall Saturday, along with 25 dozen eggs and plenty of pickles.

After the overwhelming supply of salad is completed, it will be placed in 20-pound aluminum pans and transported to Holiday Ranch.

USD Toreros Fall Practice Attracts Sixty Gridders

San Diego, Calif. — 60 candidates reported for the opening of fall practice for the 1972 University of San Diego football squad yesterday.

USD, resuming football on a college division level after a 10-year layoff, is to begin workouts at the San Diego Naval Training Center. Following 10 days of drills at NTC, the Toreros will return to their campus stadium for evening sessions prior to a Sept. 16 opening game at UC Riverside.

The start of practice will be the latest in a long list of accomplishments for Head Coach Andy Vinci. Seven months ago, Vinci took over a program which had been discontinued after the 1961 season and had existed as club football from 1968-71.

Since coming to the USD campus, Vinci has developed a non-profit corporation which is assuming all financial responsibility for the grid sport at the University. Established as the 'U Club' and governed by a board of trustees, it has raised enough funds to fence and light the stadium and is at the half-way point of its first year goal of $50,000 to cover operational costs.

From a standpoint of player talent, the Torero mentor will welcome a group which includes junior college and college transfers, high school graduates and a few holdovers from last season's club team. Unlike the club squad, all will be accredited students carrying full study loads and will be the fruits of Vinci's labor of having contacted more than 350 athletes.

Among those expected to compete for berths is former Chula Vista High standout quarterback Henry Sintay, a University of Arizona transfer. Sintay was an all-Metropolitan League and CIF pick in 1967 and '68.

Others are Bill Washington, second leading junior college receiver in the state two years ago with 55 receptions, defensive lineman Steve Landrigan from Orange Coast College and all-conference defensive tackle Ron White from Weber State.

Hoop Doubleheader Set For Arena in October

The Golden State Warriors will meet the World Champion Los Angeles Lakers at the San Diego Sports Arena in the feature game of a pro basketball doubleheader on Saturday night, October 7.

The Seattle SuperSonics face the Portland Trail Blazers in the first game of the doubleheader, starting at 6:45 p.m.

The Lakers, paced by Jerry West, Wilt Chamberlain and Gail Goodrich, established eight major NBA records last season as they rang up the finest season in the league's history.

The most spectacular achievements, of course, were the all-time high of 69 victories and the fantastic Laker winning streak of 33 games.

The Warriors' season was impressive, too. Golden State's 51 victories were a club high, going all the way back to the formation of the NBA in 1946.

The Warriors' strong team, anchored by Nate Thurmond, Jeff Mullins and Cazzie Russell, will be bolstered by the return of Rick Barry, a great forward with a career scoring average of 30.5 for six professional seasons.

Seattle's Sonics are loaded with talent. In addition to such All Stars as Spencer Haywood and Lennie Wilkens, the Sonics boast Dick Snyder, Jim McDaniel and John Brisker.

Portland's up-and-coming Blazers have two of the finest young players in basketball in Sidney Wicks and Geoff Petrie, as well as the No. 1 selection in this year's NBA draft, LaRue Martin of Loyola of Chicago.

Fish Derby Planned At Two Lakes

A "Fish Derby" at Lake Miramar and Lake Murray will highlight festivities during the "America's Finest City Week" celebration this week. Prizes for the largest fish and a special daily prize for the heaviest stringer at both lakes will be awarded.

Lake Miramar, renowned for producing record bass, will be open for competition Saturday. Miramar is reached on Miramar Frontage rd. from the Pomerado rd. overpass off Highway 395, near Miramar Naval Air Station. Boat rentals and picnic facilities are available. In addition to bass, Miramar boasts trout, bluegill and red-ear sunfish.

Lake Murray, famous for its trophy trout and recent State record bass of 17 lbs. 4 oz., will also conduct the fish derby Saturday. Murray is reached on Kiowa dr. off Lake Murray blvd., north from Highway 8. An added feature at Murray is the adjacent "Kid's Pond" for kids 12 years of age and under. Boat rentals and picnic facilities are provided at the lake. Alongside Murray's trout swim Florida bass, bluegill, crappie and catfish.

Contestants may enter the derby in one of three divisions: Men, Women, or Junior. Prizes in the Men's and Women's divisions include: for the largest fish, mayor's trophy and free boat and motor rental for one month; 2nd prize, rod and reel; 3rd prize, free boat rental for one month; 4th prize, $10 in merchandise.

Prizes in the Junior division include: for the largest fish, mayor's trophy and rod and reel; 2nd prize, rod and reel; 3rd prize, fishing box with lures; 4th prize, fishing box. One prize per winner in each division will be awarded.

Dividends Announced

USIU Grapplers To Participate In Olympics

Buddy Wilkerson, wrestling coach on the San Diego Campus of United States International University has announced that two USIU wrestlers have been accepted on Olympic wrestling teams in Munich.

The two students, Jim Steiger and Gabriel Ruz, will be representing two different countries. Steiger is representing the United States in the 114½ weight class wrestling the Greco Roman style. Jim has competed in many different tournaments and has taken either first, second or third place in all of them.

His school record is accordingly high. In 103 meets, Jim won 96 and lost only 7. He is competent in all styles of wrestling. Jim, a junior on the San Diego campus of USIU, is a physical education major and plans to teach upon graduation.

Gabriel Ruz, a senior on the California Western campus of USIU, is a physical education and Spanish major. He intends to be a physical therapist. Gabriel is representing Mexico in the 149½ weight class and will be wrestling free-style.

Gabriel, who is now 21, was also on the Olympic Wrestling Team for Mexico when he was 18. In the United States he is undefeated wrestling Olympic style.

Olympic wrestling will be held September 5-9 in Munich.

Kintner New Zoo Director After Schroeder Retires

A successor to San Diego Zoo director Dr. Charles R. Schroeder has been named, it was announced last week by Anderson Borthwick, president of the Zoological Society of San Diego.

Schroeder, who first joined the zoo as a veterinarian in 1932, announced his retirement Wednesday, stepping down from the post he held for 19 years.

Dr. Donald J. Kintner will assume management of the Zoo and its new development.

Library Films Set

The La Mesa Library is sponsoring a series of Saturday morning film programs for school-age children.

The films will run for 3 Saturdays, September 16, 23, and 30, at 10:30 a.m. in the Ben Polak Auditorium, 8053 University ave., next to the library.

Films such as "Stuart Little," "Little Girl and the Gun," "Ghosts and Ghouls," will be shown. For a complete listing check with the library.

The library is open Monday thru Friday from 10 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 6:30 p.m.

the San Diego Wild Animal Park, effective immediately. Schroeder will continue in a consulting capacity, Borthwick said.

Kintner, 46, has been a management consultant and executive during most of his career; but his interest in zoology dates back to his youth, according to Borthwick.

Borthwick added that the search for a new director for what many consider to be the world's finest zoo had been a very thorough one. "We considered a large field of candidates from around the world, and the trustees of the Zoological Society unanimously felt that Dr. Kintner's varied background and proven success made him the outstanding choice."

"Since he was named director, Dr. Charles Schroeder has given his time to the San Diego Zoo and has been instrumental in directing it to its present position of pre-eminence," Borthwick said. "The San Diego Zoo has prospered and expanded beyond all expectations, and the best evidence of this is our new Wild Animal Park."

"The Zoo and the Park are successful due to the support of individual citizens in this community, including our 43,000 members and the many generous and public-spirited people who have made donations, large and small, over the years," he said.

"More and more zoos around the world are successfully changing to the San Diego Zoo's system of management by an independent, non-profit zoological society supported by individuals in the community. I trust that our new director will enjoy the same community support the San Diego Zoo has always received, and I know he will value the advice and counsel of our retiring director."

Schroeder, 71, has been a member of numerous scientific bodies and has been president of the American Association of Zoological Parks and Aquariums and of the International Union of Directors of Zoological Gardens. He has been the recipient of many honors bestowed by the San Diego community, including "Mr. San Diego" in 1971.

Kintner was most recently with Teledyne, Inc., where he was a Group Executive reporting directly to the president. Before joining Teledyne, he was with Touche, Ross, Inc., a certified public accounting firm in Los Angeles.

Kintner also had his own management consultant firm in Los Angeles. He has been active in civic and youth affairs in San Diego and Los Angeles.

He earned a Doctor of Science degree in administration and management, and a B.S. degree in zoology and chemistry.

Kintner grew up on an Ohio farm and served in the Marines in World War II. He and his wife live in Rancho Santa Fe. Their three children are grown.

The new director is only the fourth person to head the San Diego Zoo in its 56-year history. Dr. Harry Wegeforth founded the Zoo in 1916 and led it as president until his death in 1941.

After that date, Mrs. Belle Benchley, who joined the Zoo staff as a bookkeeper in 1927, was executive secretary until her retirement in 1953. Mrs. Benchley will celebrate her 90th birthday on Aug. 28 and now lives in retirement at a San Diego convalescent home.

AFDC Aid May Be Available For Children Of Military Personnel

Welfare Director Robert B. Carleson filed formal regulations spelling it out the counties that families whose father is absent on military duty are not automatically excluded from Aid to Families with Dependent Children.

A 20-year-old California State law said that deprivation of children for AFDC eligibility purposes did not exist where a parent is absent from home due to active duty in the armed services.

This provision was finally struck down June 7 by the U. S. Supreme Court which ruled that the continued absence of a parent on active military service may support a finding of deprivation.

Under this ruling, each application for AFDC on the ground that the parent is absent must be decided on its own merits and governed by the circumstances in the individual case.

Roloff To Defend Point Lead Sunday

More than 70 motorcycles will be on hand Sunday evening at the South Bay Speedway for the California Motor Racing Enterprises ninth professional steeplechase and half-mile flat track program beginning at 7 p.m.

The race will be the first at South Bay since the successful J. C. Agajanian A.M.A. Clas C show held on August 6 and should make for a fast and competitive track.

The South Bay Speedway Overall Championship point leader, fifteen-year-old Earl Roloff of Spring Valley, will again be at South Bay riding his 250cc and 360cc Yamahas. The number two overall rider, National City's Ward Ring, will be trying to catch Roloff for the top spot.

Sal Peluso of San Diego, South Bay's only triple main event winner this season, will be entered in the 250cc class. There is also a possibility that Peluso will be able to ride an open class bike. Sal is currently fourth overall at South Bay, and with an open bike, has a chance to catch Roloff and Ring.

Along with Roloff and Peluso in the 250cc class, Danny Hockie, Mike Danell, and Bob Sander, all top novice riders at Ascot Park, will give the San Diego area riders, led by Marc Barbani, John Apple, and Pat Guthrie, quite a challenge.

In the open class, top expert Ron Moore is expected to give Ring a run for his money. Along with Moore, John Caldwell of National City, Roloff and possibly Peluso, will be trying to hold off Ring.

Along with the two pro classes, a 125cc Sporting Rider race will be run over the course. Putter's Chopper Shop of Lemon Grove will supply the winning trophies. Sign up will open at 4 p.m. with practice getting underway at 5:30. The first race will start at 7 p.m.

Aztec Tickets Boom

Season ticket sales for San Diego State's seven home football games in 1972 is approaching the 10,000 mark, Aztec Athletic Director Ken Karr said.

9,607 season tickets have been sold as compared to 7,126 at a similar date last year.

The Aztecs have opened a ticket window at San Diego Stadium. The window is located at Gate F and is opened Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. when the San Diego Padres are home and from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. when the Padres are on the road.

Cabrillo Tours on Tap

The National Park Service Rangers at Cabrillo National Monument are volunteering extra services for America's Finest City Festival.

Now through Sunday, Rangers will give detailed orientation tours to all groups or clubs on a first-come, first-served basis.

Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo's first glimpse of what is now San Diego is still one of the best sites from which to view America's Finest City and the panorama of the Pacific Ocean lying to the West.

A documentary film on the discovery of San Diego in 1542 will be shown.

Arrangements for group tours may be made by phoning 293-5450.

More women buy souvenirs at resort areas than men, according to surveys.

bid of $14,500 and a $1,500 deposit. The auction, which will be held to return the property to the tax rolls, will begin at 11 a.m. The house and 10,309 square foot lot which is included in the deal, was originally acquired in conjunction with highway construction.

Jewelry Class Set For Fall At Grossmont

Grossmont College will offer for the first time during the fall semester, an applied arts course in jewelry and lapidary crafts. The three-unit course will meet Tuesdays from 6 to 10 p.m., in Room 345 for the laboratory portion of the course and from 7 to 9 p.m., Wednesdays in Room 329A for the lecture portion of the new course.

According to Charles Serr who will serve as instructor for the evening course, emphasis will be on design principles and their correlation with metals used in design composition. Students will have the opportunity to design their own jewelry in various wire and flat sheets or cast metals, as well as cut, shape and set the completed cabachons in the metal findings.

Prospective students are urged to apply now for enrollment in this new course to ensure a place in the class. Additional information may be obtained on this and other fall semester courses by contacting the admissions office at the college.

Discrimination Claim Filed Against Zoo

An accusation that the San Diego Zoo illegally discriminated against an employee because he was Negro has been filed with the California Fair Employment Practice Commission.

The complaint leading to the accusation was filed with the FEPC in November 1971, by Winston Sharp. Sharp charged that after he had been involved in an accident he was demoted from his driver's job for the zoo and denied reinstatement to that job, even though Caucasians with accident records worse than his were not disciplined.

The accusation states that Sharp is "qualified in all respects" for the position of groundsman-driver, but has been denied reinstatement "solely because of his race."

The public hearing comes as a result of an accusation of discrimination filed by FEP Commissioner Catherine L. Montgomery, after attempts to resolve the matter privately were unsuccessful.

Mexican Folk Dance Group Visits San Diego Sept. 10

Mail order sale for the National Dances de Mexico: Folklorico at San Diego Civic Theatre September 10 will open August 21, according to the International Concerts Exchange.

50 dancers, singers, acrobats, comedians, and instrumentalists make-up one of Mexico's most famous and popular "exports."

The ensemble, formerly named "Ballet Aztlan de Mexico" after the province from which most of the company's members were recruited, was commissioned by the Mexican Minister of Fine Arts in 1960 to form a second ethnic dance ensemble, following the success scored on tour by Amalia Hernandez "Ballet Folklorico". The company was to be smaller, but of equal stature, quality, and audience appeal.

Mexico boasted a folklore of such variety, vitality, and color, reasoned the Minister, that it could not be adequately or effectively depicted by a single company in one evening's performance. Therefore, the two companies offer, between them, a breathtaking panorama of Mexico's colorful cultures and peoples, including only a few identical numbers in their respective repertoires which are established audience favorites everywhere, and which are invariably requested of both ensembles.

The company has appeared 25 weeks in Las Vegas at the Frontier Hotel and a score of America's leading State Fairs and Summer Festivals. This is its first coast-to-coast concert tour. The tour will take the troupe to more than 60

Free College Due Children Of POW's

A bill to provide free higher education to children of prisoners of war in Vietnam was signed by Governor Reagan last week. The bill, SB 15, by Senator Clair W. Burgener (R-Rancho Santa Fe), would apply to dependents of U. S. military personnel who are either prisoners of war or missing in action.

Burgener said he was delighted with the action. "It seems to me that the need for this legislation was obvious. The fathers of these children have lost not only their freedom, and possibly their lives, but they have lost their ability to be with their children as father and teacher at a critical time in their children's development. Many have also lost financial resources, and that could threaten their children's chances for higher education."

"There isn't much that can be done for these men and their families from the State level, but certainly this is one thing that we can and should do to relieve them of the worry over this aspect of their future," Burgener said.

California, because of its size and the large number of military establishments, has the most POW/MIA children of any state. According to the Department of Defense, California would be asked to furnish tuition for 314 students between 1972 and 1988.

"This averages fewer than 20 per year," declared Burgener, "and is a small price to pay in view of the even greater price these men and their families have paid in service to their country."

For years the Japanese looked upon the Manchurian crane as a symbol of eternal life.

Ladies Hockey Teams Face Off Saturday

Women's Lib hits the ice on Saturday when the high-skating San Diego Dolphins and the Los Angeles Blues face-off in a Ladies Hockey game at the House of Ice in La Mesa. They'll drop the puck at 5:30 p.m. The exhibition game is to raise money for the Dolphin's Hockey Club.

Ladies Hockey competition is relatively new in the Southern California area, having been in the L.A. area for two years and only two months in San Diego. But the teams have high hopes of establishing an amateur Ladies Western Hockey League, with five teams from the L.A. area, one entry from San Diego, and feelers out for more representatives on the West Coast.

The neophyte Dolphins are managed and coached by Lynn Pankhurst.

Tax Assistance Checks Mailed

State Controller Hugh Flournoy Monday mailed a total of $18,924,859 to 87,583 older homeowners who are among the first to qualify for reimbursements under the liberalized Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance Program.

"This is only the beginning of reimbursements resulting from claims based on 1971-72 local property tax payments," said the controller. "We expect that about 240,000 homeowners over age 62 will qualify this year and the reimbursements will total $54 to $56 million."

Flournoy said the first group of payments will reach applicants throughout the state during the next few days. He emphasized that this group does not represent all the claims that have been filed to date. Payments to other applicants will be mailed as soon as additional groups of claims can be processed by the Franchise Tax Board, which administers the program.

"The deadline for filing claims is not until October 15," Flournoy said. "Any homeowner in California who reached age 62 by last January 1 and whose household income isn't over $10,000 owes it to himself and his family to obtain complete information from the Franchise Tax Board if he has not already done so."

The soccer stadium in Rio Janeiro seats 200,000, the largest in the world.

San Diego Didn't Lose Convention — It Was at Parky's

The GOP Convention didn't leave San Diego after all.

It was held, complete with delegates, state chairmen, a keynote speaker and roll call at the home of Dr. Gaylord Parkinson, on Fuerte dr., Grossmont, Tuesday night.

The convention was all in fun — with a strong flavor of realism. It was the brainchild of Dr. Parkinson and Lou English, the latter a young public relations executive who specializes in matters political.

More than 100 guests — many members of Businessmen for Practical Planning, and their wives — were all officials of the Parkinson Convention.

Outside the house were young picketers who carried signs "Down with Short Hair" and "More Sleeping Room at Parky's". The latter was carried by Parkinson's son.

Guests were immediately registered and handed state signs and pinned with state chairman or delegate badges.

Fred Lewis, noted KSDO talk show director interviewed delegates on closed circuit television in the foyer. The interviews were taped for later playback.

In the patio Klieg lights played on a podium from which Dr. Parkinson made the keynote speech. Parkinson was State GOP Chairman in 1966 and President Nixon's Campaign Chairman in 1968.

Then came the rules committee and the resolution. Someone motioned that the Parkinson Convention be continued until all the refreshments were gone. That became the resolution.

The roll call by states followed the classic pattern. Some states failed to vote due to a caucus at the bar.

In keeping with the fun idea, Dr. Parkinson had invited Martha Mitchell, Bill Buckley, John Lindsay and H. Humphrey. They were all San Diegans whose names were culled from the telephone book. They made speeches as though they were politicians of the same name.

The novel idea was dreamed up last week and "put together in two days," Parkinson said.

Realism was newsmen. The "convention" was being covered by the local press, by television, and by NEWSWEEK Magazine.

Members of Business Men for Practical Planning paid $25 a person with the proceeds going to a fund to protest ecological issues detrimental to the business communities. BMPP, said England, has more than 700 members, some of them representing specific industries. With affiliates, membership tops 3,000, he said.

England will guide the campaign of Dr. Gene French for Supervisor. Dr. French was present but he made no speech. There were no serious matters before the delegates at all.

While the Parkinson Convention was going on, three television sets were piping in the convention at Miami. Parkinson's was more fun.

SWC Seeks Student Housing

The Student Activities Office at Southwestern College is once again attempting to locate suitable housing for students this fall, according to Wayne L. Allen, Dean of Student Activities and Community Services.

Anyone having a room or small apartment to rent may contact the ASO Finance Office to be placed on the college housing list.

The college offers the service to students in good standing, although Allen emphasized that the college cannot accept any tenant responsibility.

Many of the students are self-supporting, and some have families and therefore are usually on a limited budget, and low-cost rentals located within the college district are in particular demand. Rentals may be offered with or without kitchen privileges, furnished or unfurnished.

The ASO Finance Office is open daily Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and will take listings.

S.V. Girl Drowns

The pond has been labeled as an "attractive nuisance" by Lemon Grove Sheriff's Office Commander Barney Oldham. Oldham said that the pond is a popular spot for youngsters to swim during the hot summer months and creates an added problem because of the heavy weed growth and cold waters.

The property is not fenced and few no trespassing signs are posted.

Mills Signs Mills' Bill For Bikeways

SACRAMENTO — Acting Governor James R. Mills became the first Chief Executive in California history to sign into law his own bill — a measure to construct bicycle lanes.

Senate Bill 36, introduced by Senator Mills, was signed into law at a ceremony in Davis at the City Library.

Governor Mills declined to praise the author. But with a smile, he acknowledged: "There has been pretty good rapport between the legislator and the new Executive Branch."

Mills' bill, appropriating $720,000, consists of two parts. The first part requires setting aside a minimum amount of $360,000 per year from the State Highway Fund for the construction of bicycle facilities to be used in conjunction with the state highway system.

The second part of the bill creates a Bicycle Lane Account and provides for the transfer of $30,000 per month from gasoline taxes collected for cities and counties for the acquisition of rights of way and construction of bicycle lanes on local streets and roads where the separation of bicycles from motor vehicles will increase the traffic capacity or safety of the roadway. The money will be allocated to cities and counties on the basis of population. It also will be used as a mechanism to obtain federal funds on a matching basis.

The Department of Public Works will administer the Bicycle Lane Account and will adopt rules and regulations to implement it. The Director of Public Works will confer periodically with the Director of Parks and Recreation in carrying out the intent of the legislation.

Burgener Bill OKs San Onofre Park

Development of San Onofre State Beach for public recreation came a step closer to reality yesterday when Governor Reagan signed a bill by Senator Clair W. Burgener. The bill, SB 467, appropriates $170,000 of state money to match federal funds for construction of needed facilities.

San Onofre Beach is being leased from Camp Pendleton as a result of personal intervention by President Nixon. The California Department of Parks and Recreation will be responsible for the operation of the beach and facilities for public recreation.

Burgener introduced the bill on July 20 with an "urgency clause" that allows it to take effect immediately rather than the usual 61 days following adjournment. The Senate passed the bill on July 28, and the Assembly passed it on the last day before the current recess, August 4.

In announcing the Governor's action, Burgener said, "The people of California will benefit greatly from the availability of this magnificent beach. It is ideally suited to many recreational activities from sunning to surfing and is a major addition to our state beach system."
